Situated amidst walnut orchards and along the scenic Sacramento River, one hour north of Sacramento, discover the multi-faceted 238.79-acre, Grand Island Ranch in Colusa County.

As you make your way through the brick columns topped with pineapple finials, an ode to the ranch's hospitality and welcoming spirit, you are greeted by the grand entrance of the main home with a well-landscaped paved plaza. Living is easy at Grand Island Ranch. The main home boasts six bedrooms, four bathrooms across 4,628 square feet, offering ample space for family living and entertaining. Just a stone's throw away, is the pool and chic pool house. An entertainer's delight.

Grand Island Ranch's agrarian roots run deep. With fertile Class II and III soils, solar-powered 100 Hp irrigation well, and riparian rights to the Sacramento River, the property supports 180 acres of planted walnuts. Additionally, there are 10 acres of suitable land that could be cultivated for a crop other than walnuts.

Beyond the agricultural value, this property offers a great recreational lifestyle. Over a mile of Sacramento River frontage is perfect for fishing, boating, and other water activities. The surrounding countryside also provides excellent hunting opportunities for wild turkeys, deer, dove, and pheasants.

At the working ranch headquarters along the Sacramento River, there is a comfortable 2,461 square foot guest home with a pool, detached four-car garage, a 1,090 square foot three bedroom home used for storage, and a 900 square foot two bedroom home used as an office. There are two large and functional workshops with large roll-up doors, cement floors, shelving, electricity provided by solar panels on the roof, and a lift. Two historical barns remind one of the rich agricultural traditions of Colusa County.

Located in a prime location with easy access to nearby towns, parks, and wineries, this property offers the best of both worlds: a productive agricultural operation and a peaceful rural retreat. If you're seeking a unique opportunity to own a thriving walnut orchard and enjoy the beauty of the Sacramento River, Grand Island Ranch is an ideal choice.

Improvements: The Main Home

The Main Home:

As you make your way through the brick columns topped with pineapple finials, an ode to the ranch's hospitality and welcoming spirit, you are greeted by the grand entrance of the six-bedroom, four-bathroom, 4,628-square-foot main home with a well-landscaped paved plaza and island with lawn, trees, and greenery. Designed in classic Spanish-Colonial architecture, the house features white stucco walls and a red tile roof. Natural light pours into the home through oversized windows and skylights. The Spanish Colonial influence is evident in many areas of the home. The wood coffered ceiling in the dining room, with its intricate details, as well as the terracotta tile floor, is a hallmark of this style. The exposed wooden beams in the high ceiling living room add a warm and inviting atmosphere. The kitchen features modern stainless-steel appliances, granite countertops, and butcher island block. The primary bedroom features a fireplace, large walk-in closet, and a spacious ensuite bathroom. Above the main entrance, there is a unique creative/office space or guest bedroom with a private entrance and bathroom. Plenty of covered parking spaces for vehicles with a detached three-car garage and large walk-in freezer with a double-sink.

The Pool House:

Next to the main home is the pool and chic pool house. The pool house features turquoise-colored kitchen, large seating area, indoor BBQ, bar, bedroom, and bathroom. There are also two dressing rooms with a separate entrance, each with their own sink and shower. An entertainer's delight.

Water

The walnut orchard has access to water through riparian rights on the Sacramento River and an irrigation well. The well is primarily used due to its simpler filtration process, supplying water to the orchard via a solid-set irrigation system. A solar field helps offset the energy costs associated with pumping water. Additionally, the walnut orchard is equipped with an operational tile drainage system, which removes excess water and channels it to the southeast corner of the property. The drainage pump is shared with the neighboring property to the south.

Walnut Orchard

The farm primarily consists of Class II and Class III soils, supporting 180 acres of walnut trees. Of these, approximately 150 acres are Tulare varieties planted in 2007 on a 30x30 spacing, while 30 acres are Chandler varieties planted in 1995 on the same spacing. Both varieties have consistently produced walnuts with an edible yield of approximately 40%. Over the past ten years, Tulare trees have averaged a yield of 3,500 pounds per acre, and Chandler trees have averaged 4,526 pounds per acre.

There are 10 additional acres of land that could be cultivated for a crop other than walnuts.
